PRESIDENT'S FLASH DESTROYS GAMBOA

Touch of Telegraph Key By Wilson Sets Off Gigantic Blast of Dynamite 4000 Miles Away

MUCH WORK YET REMAINS

Besides Wreckage of Dike There Are Two Earth Slides to Be Cleared Away Before Boats Can Pass from Ocean to Ocean

ENGINEER GALLARD IS NEAR DEATH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The momentary touch of a key by the president of the United States otday through a continuous telegraph and cable connection of 4,000 miles, setting off a gigantic blast of dynamite which exploded the Gamboa dike, the last of the great physical barrier to water communication in the Panama canal. It was an extraordinary feat of telegraphy, especially planned for the occasion. At precisely 2 o'clock this afternoon President Wilson by simply closing a telegraph key at the white house sent the current over land and under sea and just a few second later came the message informing him that the explosion had been successful.

While celebration on the Pacific coast were numerous there was no ceremony in Washington, it being the wish of Colonel Goethals that the government await the actual opening of the canal. Besides the wreckage of the Gamboa dike, there are two earth slides to be cleared away before boats can pass from ocean to ocean.

Special Circuit Arranged.

The special circuit had been set up early in the day and the telegraph companies stationed men at every point enroute to guard the continuous connection and prevent mechanical interference.

A few minutes before 2 o'clock Chief Operator E. W. Smithers at the White House talked to Galveston, Texas.

"Is the cable ready?" he inquired.

"Yes," came the answer and soon Galveston announced that "Pa," the telegraph call of Panama, was heard. By agreement the operator at the white house made four dots.

This gave the signal for the engineers at the Gamboa Dike to be in readiness for the flash. They waited twenty seconds and on the dot President Wilson closed the key which turned the current into the dynamite apparatus.

"There, it is all over," smiled the president. "Gamboa is busted."

The president sent Colonel Goethals, engineer of the canal, a brief message of congratulation and turned to those about him, happy in the thrill of the moment—for it brought anticipation of the final step that will open to the world a short waterway between the Atlantic and Pacific, the dream of centuries.

Engineer at Point of Death.

While the scene at the white house was a happy one, at Johns Hopkins hospital, forty miles away, there lay at the point of death the man who would have given most to have witnessed the destruction of Gamboa dike. It was Lieut. Col. David Du Gallard, the engineer who directed the excavation of Culebra cut, one end of which was blocked by the Gamboa Dike.

Colonel Gallard is suffering from a general breakdown as a result of his long labors in the canal zone.

Engineers now are looking forward to the final dredging of the great ditch with the hope that lighter draft vessels used by the diggers will be able to pass through the entire canal.

Death Momentarily Expected.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 10.—While the ceremonies attending the practical completion of the Panama canal were taking place today, Lieut. Col. David Du Gallard, who directed some of the most difficult engineering feats in the Culebra cut division lay unconscious and dying in Johns Hopkins hospital here. His wife sat beside his bed anxiously looking into his face and hoping for some sign of recognition. At the same time their son, an army officer, was aboard a steamer, having left the work in which his father had been in charge to join his mother.

The growth that is pressing against the brain cells of the dying man is said to be the product of eight years arduous labor in the tropical climate of the canal zone. While no official statement could be secured at the hospital tonight, it is understood that Col. Gallard's death is momentarily expected.

Colonel Gallard was born in Winnsboro, S. C., in 1859. He was graduated from West Point in 1880 and since that time he has won many honors in the engineering service.

Entire Dike Not Destroyed.

Panama, Oct. 10.—The Gamboa Dike, which sprang into world wide prominence as the last artificial barrier to actual communication between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans by way of the Panama canal, was rent in twain by the hand of President Woodrow Wilson at 2:02 this afternoon. Between three and four thousand persons from the cities of Panama and Colon and various sections of the canal zone, journeyed to the scene to witness the demolition of the barrier and while the event of destroying the dike was spectacular to a degree and successful in its every detail, some disappointment was evinced because the entire dike was not destroyed. Utter demolition today was not carried out because of the fear that the concussion might damage the railroad trestle crossing the cut near the San Miguel locks. The two remaining sections will be dynamited at some future day.

The spectators were early on the ground. They lined the banks of the cut, well outside the zone of danger, occupying the slopes of nearby hills, the roofs of buildings, tops of cars and every available vantage point. As the hour approached when President Wilson, in the white house in Washington, would press the button and send the electric spark over the wires to explode the numerous charges of dynamite in the dike, a hush of expectancy fell over all. When the minute hand of watches passed the hour of 2 o'clock the suspense became still greater and the ensuing two minutes seemed like as many hours.

Remarkably Clear Explosion.

Then suddenly came the muffled roar of the discharge of 1600 pounds of dynamite which sent a shower of water, mud and rock high into the air, spreading out as it went upward, the whole heavily veiled in a cloud of smoke. It was considered among local dynamite experts as a remarkably clean explosion. A section of the dike sixty feet wide was lifted bodily out from its bed and its component parts scattered far and wide. The small stones rattled a noisy accompaniment on the tin roofs of nearby buildings but none flew outside the danger zone.

As water began to pour through the rent made by the explosion, whistles were tied down and the crowd sent up a great cheer.. Not an obstruction was left in the opening except some iron pipe, which stuck up here and there.

Rapidly Fills to Lake Level.

At the hour that President Wilson set off the blast the water in the cut was exactly six feet below the level of Lake Gatun and the inflow of water afterward was in such volume that the cut was filled to lake level within an hour and a half. There was only one accident, a woman spectator was struck on the head with a rock which was dislodged by another spectator from the hillside where she was watching the explosion. Her injury is not serious.

All the heads of the canal departments were present for the epoch-making event, as also were all the members of the cabinet of President Porras. The president was unable to be present.

It was Colonel Goethals' day and the chairman of the Panama canal commission was the recipient of a shower of congratulations. Half an hour before the blast was set off Colonel Goethals got his stand well up toward the dike but as the time neared for the explosion he drew back a short distance but still well out in front and in an unprotected position. There he was when the mass of earth and water shot skyward.

Frenchman a Spectator.

Philippe Bunau-Varilla, who was engineer of the Panama Canal company when the French were trying to dig the great ditch, was an interested spectator of the event of this afternoon. Throughout he appeared as enthusiastic as any of the other spectators. Local acquaintances intimate that Bunau-Varilla, once an ardent believer in the sea level canal, fast is being converted to the lock system. He was one of the few of those present who saw the beginning of the great work of digging the canal thirty years ago.

The first boat to enter the cut from the lake was a native canoe, manned by two Americans. Shortly afterward three launches successfully negotiated the water over the gap. If the water covering the gap is deep enough a dredge will be passed into the gap next Monday.

The Cucaracha slide, that huge moving mass of earth and rock, covering acres in extent, is now the only barrier in the way of the passage of a vessel from ocean to ocean. A trench has been dug around this barrier and tonight or tomorrow the section of the cut south of this point will begin to fill and it is planned to pass some of the Pacific dredges through the Pacific locks Monday as the water in the Mira Flores lake has risen sufficiently to permit navigation.

Colonel Goethals has not gone on record as to when the first boat will be passed through the entire canal, as such passage depends wholly upon the expedition with which the slide can be removed.

Denies Published Report.

Panama, Oct. 10—Philippe Bunau-Varilla, engineer of the Panama Canal company under the French regime, who came here to witness the blowing up of the Gamboa dike, today denied reports published in the United States that he was connected with a proposed ship canal through Columbia.

Commenting on the Panama canal, M. Bunau-Varilla said that while he had always favored a sea level canal, he recognized the fact that its accomplishment at the present time, so far as the Panama route was concerned, was impossible. He predicted, however, that in two or three decades the volume of business offered to the present canal would be so great that it would not be able to handle the traffic on account of the limited supply of water afforded by the Chagres river. It would then be necessary to excavate the canal to sea level.

M. Bunau-Varilla expressed admiration of the manner in which the canal had been brought to completion and of the smoothness of the operation.

FIRST PRESIDENT OF CHINESE REPUBLIC

BRILLIANT INAUGURATION CEREMONY HELD FOR YUAN SHI KAI

Inauguration Is Attended by Throngs of Chinese and Foreign Officials, Diplomats and Military Officers—President Delivers Inaugural Address.

PEKING, Oct. 10.—Yuan Shi Kai was today inducted into office as first president of the Chinese republic. The ceremony of inauguration was surrounded with eastern brilliance. It was attended by throngs of distinguished Chinese and foreign officials, diplomats and military officers and took place in the interior of the Tai-Ho Palace in which many of the Ming and Ching emperors had been crowned. The southern half of the extensive enclosure was opened to the guests, who traversed hall after hall and court after court toward the present residence of the little dethroned emperor.

The ceremony was enacted in the vast building called the Tai-Ho Tien or Hall of Supreme Peace, which sits high up on triple terraces of marble and is decorated everywhere with dragons and imperial gold.

It was here that the emperor formerly received New Year's greetings from the Manchu and Suzrain prince.

The Chinese officials present, as well as the priests of the various religions, wore garments of colored silks of many hues but the members of the Chinese parliament were dressed in western frock coats and high hats which they have adopted as their official costumes.

Many of the natives of Turketan and Mongolia and also some of the Chinese and Manchus, appeared ill at ease in their sombre garb.

The chiefs of the foreign legations were carried to the ceremony in chairs and during inauguration the brilliant uniforms of the military officers attached to the legations contrasted strongly with the black of the chinese deputies.

Yuan Shi Kai wore a blue military uniform. He read his declarations, which were tantamount to taking the oath of office, from the dragon dais of the emperor over which Republican flags have been draped.

After the delivery of the inaugural address the president, surrounded by members of the foreign relations, reviewed 10,000 troops equipped in modern uniforms from the front of a pagoda of the Forbidden City. Extensive precautions, both police and military, had been taken for several days, as it was feared that some Chinese rebels who had cut off their queues might obtain access to the ceremony disguised as Japanese. It was not possible for the authorities to limit the number of invitations sent to the Japanese legation without doing the same in the other cases and for this reason it was decided to reduce the number all around.

In spite of these precautions it was found that the rebels had succeeded in testing the loyalty of the chief of the Peking mounted police. This was discovered in time and he was arrested. He confessed that he had been bribed to assassinate the president.

ILLINOIS WORKERS SUFFER MANY SERIOUS ACCIDENTS

Annual Report of State Bureau of Labor Statistics Shows Some Startling Facts.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 10.—Twelve thousand, seven hundred and twenty-eight accidents to workers in industrial fields—589 of them fatal—were reported to the state bureau of labor statistics in the course of the last year. These figures are incorporated in the annual report of the bureau issued today.

The report says that twenty-seven more deaths occurred from accidents to Illinois workers in the last year than in the previous one and adds:

"Taking into consideration the fact that nearly 75,000 men in the coal mining industry were idle for at least two months in 1912, the increase is a startling commentary on the hazards of present day employment."

One hundred eighty-three of the 589 employes killed in the course of the year were two under the workmen's compensation act; 406 of the fatal accidents occurred to persons whose employers had rejected the act.

On the non-fatal accidents reported to the bureau, 8730 occurred under the compensation act and 3,409 outside the law. Damages under the compensation act were granted in 102 of the 183 fatal accidents, a total of $221,502.11 being paid the dependents of the dead workmen. The average compensation granted in these cases was $2,244.52.

Of the 346 workmen killed outside the compensation law, 190 were railroad employes, who left 283 dependent persons unprovided for through compensation from the employing railroad companies. One hundred and six mine workers were killed, leaving 212 dependents for whom no voluntary compensation was provided. Eighty factory employes were killed outside the provisions of the compensation act.

The report of non-fatal accidents under the compensation act shows 8,730 cases that involved a loss of eight days or more of time. Of these cases, 8,382 received compensations and attention to the total of $344,656.28.

PATH OF CURRENCY BILL SMOOTHED OUT

Unless Different Conditions Develop There Is to Be No Attempt to Hurry the Senate

REASONABLE DEBATE OF BILL

No Attempt Will Be Made to Prevent a Reasonable Debate---House Concurs In Senate Amendment by Close Vote

VOTE COMES AFTER A LONG DEBATE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Conservatiave expressions by Democrats known to be in close sympathy with the administration today led to the general belief that the path of the currency bill has been smoothed out at least for a time. Apparently there is to be no attempt to unduly hurry the senate in its work unless conditions should develop later in the banking and currency committee that threaten to defeat or greatly delay legislation.

While President Wilsonwants early action on the Glass bill close friends of the administration are making it clear now that they do not draw an arbitrary line at December 1st, as the date for its passage. Senator Howe Smith of Georgia today said the passage of the currency reform bill in January would be as much an administration victory as its enactment in November; and the same view is held by many other senate Democrats who are counseling the administration against drawing party lines on the bill or attempting to prevent debate of the bill.

Dhile the special session of congress will end November 30, and the regular winter session begin December 1, the tranition will make so change in the status of the currency bill and will not affect the senate's work upon it. The senate committee today arranged its program of hearings to cover the time up to October 25.

May Meet Sudden Change.

The apparent determination to let the currency situation solve itself may meet a sudden change if it should be found impossible to get an agreement in the committee within two or three weeks after formal work is begun on the reconstruction of the bill, when the hearings have been concluded.

It is believed that if the bill can be brought into the senate by November 15, the administration will be willing to let the Democratic leaders of that body take charge of the situation without trying to force passage of the bill before December.

The general purposes of the administration bill were endorsed today before the senate committee by James G. Cannon, president of the fourth National Bank of New York and A. F. Dawson, president of the First National Bank of Davenport, Ia. Both aserted that the bill was designed to remedy in a large measure the defects in the present financial system. But both recommend a number of amendments which they held to improve the measure.

Vote Extremely Close.

By the closest vote of the session 111 to 106 the house late tonight voted to recede from its conferees disagreement and to concur in the senate amendment to the urgent deficiency appropriation bill which provides for the removal of deputy internal revenue collectors and deputy marshals from civil service regulations.

The vote came after a protracted debate in which many Democrats bitterly assailed the proposal as a direct blow at civil service and characterized it as a step backward toward the spoils system. The Democrat revolt was led by Representative Fitzgerald of New York and fifty-four Democrats voted against the concurrence which was brought up on a motion by Representative Bartlett of Georgia. Representative Underwood the majority leader who did not take part in the debate was loudly cheered when he voted aye. Four members voted present, six more than a quorum answering to their names.

Other matters in disagreement will be taken up when the house meets tomorrow.

BALLOONISTS LAND.

Russellville, Mo., Oct. 10.—William Assman of St. Louis, pilot and Joseph O'Reilly, his aide, who sailed from San Antonio, Texas, in the Balloon Million Population club of St. Louis last night in an effort to lift the Lahm cup for long distance flights, landed two miles north of here tonight. Both men had suffered severely from the cold. The distance sailed by the balloon was estimated at 725 miles, 447 miles less than the record made by Captain Allen J. Hawley of New York, present holder of the cup. The balloon was in the air 24 hours.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 10.—Three trainmen were killed when two Chicago, Indiana & Southern railroad trains collided head-on at Ginger Hill, ten miles southwest of here late tonight.

The dead:

Thomas Jefferson, Kankakee, Ill., engineer.

An unidentified brakeman.

A misunderstanding of orders is said to have caused the wreck.

POLITICIANS CALL [redacted] CHICAGO MEETING

WILL CONSIDER AMALGAMATION OF REPUBLICANS AND PROGRESSIVES

Group of Republican and Progressive Members of Legislature Hold Long Conference in Springfield—"Republican Day" at State Fair.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 10.—Tonight, following the political activities incident to "Republican Day" at the state fair, a group of Republican and Progressive members of the Illinois general assembly met to consider amalgamation of the two parties. It was agreed after a long conference to call a meeting in Chicago within the next two or three weeks of all Republican and Progressive members of the legislature.

Those attending the conference tonight were C. J. Doyle, former secretary of state, and Representative David E. Shanahan, of Chicago; Robert Jones, Flora; Lucas I. Butts, Peoria; Israel Dudgeon, Morris, Republicans; and Frank J. Snite, Chicago; J. H. Jayne, Monmouth; R. E. Sherman, Chicago, and Senator H. W. Harris, Chicago.

At the conclusion of the conference the following statement was issued:

"A conference was held at the Leland hotel tonight between Republican and Progressive members of the last general assembly to discuss the sentiment abroad in the various counties of the state looking to an early amalgamation of the two forces in Illinois. On account of the absence of a number of members who were called away on early trains and others who could not be reached, it was deemed best that no action be taken and the conference be postponed to an early date when a larger representation of both parties will be had."

No Set Program.

Republicans had no set program today. At a meeting of leaders during the day state Chairman Roy O. West, Chicago, presided. Short talks were made by United States Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman, former Governor Charles S. Deneen, former Secretary of State C. J. Doyle, and others.

The political situation was gone over in a general way.

Many minor conferences were held.

State Superintendent of Instruction Francis G. Blair today stated that he expected to be a candidate to succeed himself.

L. L. Emerson, Mt. Vernon, a well known southern Illinois banker and former candidate for the office, will in all probability come out for state treasurer. Roy R. Reece, of this city, is also spoken of as a probable candidate for treasurer.

Charles W. Baldwin, enrolling and engrossing clerk of the house, and Charles W. Vail of Chicago, the latter one of former Governor Deneen's lieutenants, are expected to become candidates for the Republican nomination for clerk of the supreme court.

Representative David E. Shanahan, "dean" of the Illinois house, was also spoken of as a candidate, but he promptly denied the report.

GOES TO PRISON VOLUNTARILY AND WITHOUT HAVING GUARD

C. W. Sego of Des Moines Goes to Fort Madison to Begin Serving Fifteen Year Sentence for Larceny.

Fort Madison, Iowa, Oct. 10.—A local mystery caused by a well dressed young man who has been at a hotel here for three days and who frequently telephoned to the Iowa state prison, was explained today, when C. W. Sego, of Des Moines, entered the penitentiary to begin serving a sentence of fifteen years for larceny. Sego came to Fort Madison voluntarily and without a guard and had been trying to get inside the walls. The proper papers arrived only today.

Pardon or Parole Denied.

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 10.—Chas. Sego asked Governor Clark for a pardon or parole before commitment. A hearing was held Monday and clemency was denied. He asked that no deputy sheriff take him to prison. Sego was convicted in Jasper county two years ago of stealing intoxicating liquors to the value of $11 from Henry Wehrman. Two companions are in prison.

An appeal to the supreme court was also a failure. At the last term a re-hearing was denied.

ADOLPHUS BUSCH DIES IN GERMANY

MULTI-MILLIONAIRE BREWER SUCCUMBS TO LONG ILLNESS

Grand-son In St. Louis Receives Word of Death From His Father Who Was Visiting at the Busch Castle on the Rhine—Brewer was Noted For His Charity.

ST LOUIS, Oct. 10.—A telegram was received here tonight announcing the death at Langenschwalbach, Germany, of Adolphus Busch the multi-millionaire brewer.

The telegram was received by Adolphus Busch III., grand-son of the well known brewer from his father, August A. Busch.

The telegram said "Father passed away peacefully at 8:15 o'clock."

This would be 1:15 p. m. St. Louis time.

Mr. Busch had been a sufferer from dropsy for seven years but when his son August left here a few weeks ago to join him at his castle on the Rhine, he did not know that his father was dangerously ill.

Mr. Busch's fortune was estimated at $60,000,000 and his annual income $2,000,000. He gave liberally to charity. At the time of the San Francisco earthquake and fire, Mr. Busch contributed $100,000 to the relief fund. He also contributed heavily to the relief of the Galveston flood sufferers and $25,000 to the relief of the Ohio Valley flood sufferers last spring.

Mr. Busch first became connected with the industry with which his name is associated, by obtaining a clerkship in a malt and hop storage house.

He rose steadily and finally acquired an interest in a small brewery.

The brewing industry then was in its infancy in America. Mr. Busch introduced the modern method of bottling beer for export. He thus revolutionized the industry and laid the foundation for its present great proportions. Mr. Busch was 76 years old.

FRIENDLY CROWD OF FANS GREET NEW YORK GIANTS

Are Not Given the Demonstration They Received Wednesday Night—Other Sporting News.

New York, Oct. 10.—The New York Giants arrived here tonight from Philadelphia. They were greeted with a quieter demonstration than the one they met with on their arrival home after Wednesday's victory over the Athletics. A friendly crowd of several hundred fans shouted words of hope and encouragement, however, and the prevailing good nature of the welcoming delegation brought smiles to the Giants' faces despite the defeat today. The players went to their homes to rest for tomorrow's contest here.

BRANDS MORMONISM AS AN "AGENT TO DEGRADE WOMANHOOD"

Chicago Woman Declares W. C. T. U. Will Never Rest as Long as There Are Any "American Harems."

Hood of Chicago in the president's address to the fortieth annual meeting of Illinois white ribboners here today, declared that the W. C. T. U., will never rest so long as there are any "American harems of the Mormons."

Miss Hood said that 727,000 Mormons hold the balance of power in seven states. Having scared the brewers and since we are nearing victory against booze we should direct W. C. T. U., attention toward Mormonism, white slavery and drugs.

DEPUTY MEMBERS ARE IMPRISONED

One Hundred and Ten Members Who Signed Resolutions of Warning to Huerta Locked Up

WITHDRAWAL IS DEMANDED

Arrests Follow Mexican President's Demand---Deputies Threatened to Abandon Capital Fearing for Personal Safety

TROOPS PREPARING FOR TROUBLE

MEXICO City, Oct. 10—One hundred and ten members of the chamber of deputies who had signed resolutions of warning to President Huerta as the result of the disappearance of Dr. Belisaro Dominguez, Senator for Chiapas, last night were arrested tonight and lodged in the penitentiary. Five other deputies who signed the resolution were absent when a cordon of troops was thrown about the legislative building and several hundred soldiers invaded the chamber.

The arrests followed a demand by President Huerta that the chamber withdraw the resolution which carried the threat that the deputies would abandon the capital owing to an alleged lack of guarantees for their personal safety.

Attacks Huerta; Disappears.

Senator Dominguez early in the month made a speech in the senate violently attacking Huerta saying that not only nothing been done during Huerta's regime toward the pacification of the country but that the present situation in the republic was infinitely worse than before. He said the currency of Mexico had depreciated, fields had been neglected and towns razed, and that famine threatened. He added that the situation was the first and foremost to the fact that the Mexican people could not resign themselves to be governored by Huerta.

Before the hour for the regular opening of the session of the chamber at four o'clock this afternoon the basement and roof of the building had been packed with troops. Scores of police were scattered through the gallery.

When the deputies were in their places Minister of the Interior Manuel Garza Aldape, entered the chamber simultaneously several hundred troops lined up in front of the chamber. Senor Aldape ascended the platform and read the reply of President Huerta to the resolution warning him of the deputies intention to dissolve the parliament and hold their sessions elsewhere and demanding an investigation of the disappearance of Senator Dominguez. The reply said that President Huerta could do no less than consider the resolution an act of unjustified aggression and transgression of the rights of the other two powers—the executive and the courts.

Are Taken to Penitentiary.

When the arrests were made a few of the leaders were placed in automobiles while the other deputies were taken to the penitentiary in street cars. Meanwhile similiar demands to recant had been made upon members of the senate who had concurred in the chamber resolution. A committee of senators called on President Huerta and signified their willingness to comply with his demands. Later the senators formally withdrew this action. In anticipation of possible trouble heavy patrols are on the streets tonight. The rapid fire guns which were posted in interior courts of the palace in February are again in place and quantities of ammunition are at hand.

Eagle Pass, Texas, Oct. 10.—Couriers brought word to American military authorities here today that about 3,000 constitutionalists have mobilized within striking distance of Piedras Negras.

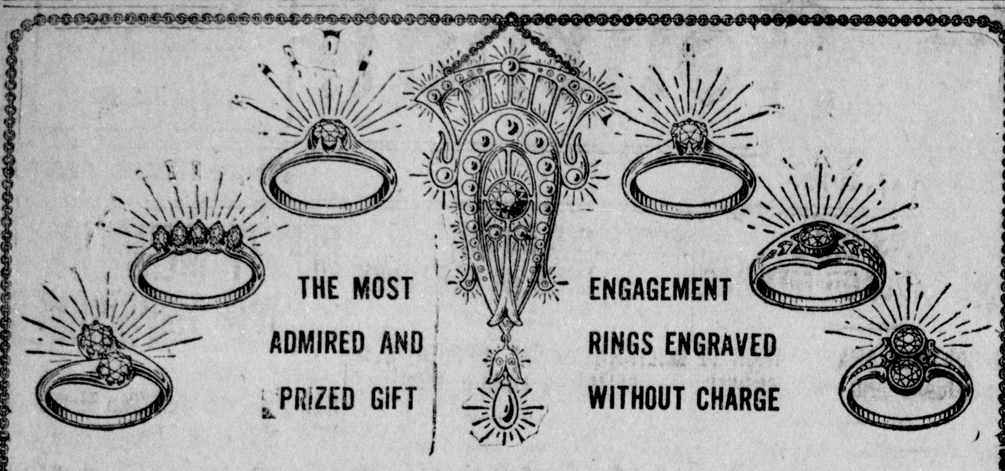

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES

ALBANY, N. Y.—Governor William Sulzer's fate tonight rests with the judges. The final arguments of counsel for and against him were delivered today before the high court of impeachment. Immediately thereafter the court adjourned until next Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

VIENNA, Oct. 10.—It is reported here that Turkey has purchased from Brazil the super-dreadnaught Rio De Janeiro, which has just been completed by Armstrong, Whitworth and company at New Castle-on-Tyne. The Rio De Janeiro is a twenty-two-knot vessel and displaces 27,500 tons.

BOONE, Ia., Oct. 10.—Women suffrage leaders split as the result of a fractional fight today when Mrs. John L. Stevens, wife of last year's Progressive party candidate for governor, was defeated. Miss Flora Dunlap, social settlement worker, of Des Moines, was elected president and this caused the bolt.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 10—The divorce mills of the circuit court which yesterday ground out one hundred degrees of separation, were busy again today and up to a late hour thirty-five couples had been freed for various causes of their marital troubles.

ECZEMA ON SCALP ITCHED AND BURNED

Would Fester and Come to Head. Could Not Sleep. Hair Fell Out. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in Two Weeks.

R. F. D. No. 2, Seymour, Mo. — "My scalp broke out with fine pimples at the start. They itched and burned so much that I was compelled to scratch them and they would fester and come to a head and break out again. The trouble was attended by such burning and itching I could not sleep, also when I sweat it burned the same. My hair fell out gradually and the scalp kept rough and dry with itching and burning. After about two years the pimples broke out between my shoulders. My clothing irritated them. I was troubled with that eczema five or six years.

"I tried everything that was recommended without any benefit until I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment according to directions, and Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured me sound and well in two weeks." (Signed) S. L. Killian, Nov. 22, 1912.

For pimples and blackheads the following is a most effective and economical treatment: Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. At other times use Cuticura Soap freely for the toilet and bath, to assist in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores. Sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

STARTLING REVELATIONS IN JACKSONVILLE

SUBJECT TO BE PRESENTED BY EVANGELIST REES SUNDAY.

Attendance Cut Down Last Night on Account of Inclement Weather—Sermon Preceded by Testimony Meeting—Dr. Rees Itinerary Announced for Coming Months.

THE REMAINING SERVICES

Today.

3:30 p. m.—Services in Central park immediately after the world's series ball game.

7:00 p. m.—Service in the tent. "The Man Who Wins."

Sunday.

6:30 a. m.—Sunrise jubilee service in the tent.

2:30 p. m.—Mass meeting for women in Central Christian church, "Startling Revelations in Jacksonville."

7:00 p. m.—"Is It Nothing Nothing to You." Last meeting of the union revival.

A small but interested audience heard Dr. Rees discuss the topic, "Prepare to Meet Thy God," Friday evening and remained to take part in an enthusiastic rapid-fire testimony meeting. Dr. Miller read the scripture lesson and Dr. Post gave the opening prayer. The text of the evening, Dr. Rees said, proved three things, the existence of a God, the fact that all must meet him, and the necessity of preparation for that meeting.

In conclusion the evangelist reminded the sinner that the time of preparation should be now. A feature of the testimony meeting was the number participating, so many that two leaders, Dr. Rees and Rev. Mr. Spoonts, were necessary. The woman's meeting in the tent was well attended, considering the heavy afternoon rain. Instead of "Startling Revelations in Jacksonville," as before announced, Dr. Rees spoke on "Lessons from the Slums of Paris, London and New York." The former subject will be discussed at the 2:30 mass meeting for women at Central Christian church, before the service for men only in the tent. Announcement was repeated last evening of the Central park service following the world's series ball game this afternoon.

Future Meetings of Evangelist.

The coming schedule of meetings to be held by Dr. and Mrs. Rees will be of undoubted interest to many, judging from the many inquiries recently received. Their next meeting at Philipsburg, Pa., will gegin Oct. 16, after which Dr. Rees and his wife will go to Pittsfield, Mass. In January, they will be in Nashua, N. H., and later in Boston, Mass. After a series of meetings in Buffalo, N. Y., they will come west again in the spring to Marshalltown, Iowa. Their schedule is full until the first of June.

Dr. Rees' Sermon.

The text from which Dr. Rees gave his sermon is found in Amos. 4:12: "Prepare to meet thy God." The text implies three great facts—First, that there is a God; secondly that we are to meet Him, and thirdly, that preparation is necessary.

"The first fact, that there is a God, is axiomatic," said Rev. Mr. Rees. "There is no need for argument here. The beautiful springtime; the springing blade; the bursting bud; the sunlight, and all the beautiful world; the rain; the dew; the spacious firmament, and above all, man himself, all echo the truth that there is a God. 'In Him we live and move and have our being.' Heaven and earth are full of His glory.

"The second fact implied by the text, namely, that we shall meet Him, is verified by numerous passages of Scripture. Among others are 1 Cor. 5-10, Rom. 14:10-12, Rev. 20:12. It is no more certain that Saul of Tarsus met Jesus, it is no more certain that Simon Peter or the beloved disciple met Christ, than it is that we shall meet Him. You may doubt it, but what you say you do not believe may prove some time to be an awful reality. The meeting of man and God is inevitable. It is only a question of time when the veil will be put aside and the creature will stand face to face with his Creator. 'Prepare to meet thy God.' What preparation is necessary We have all sinned and fallen short of the glory of God, and we must set to work at once to make preparation for the meeting with our Maker. What does the preparation involve? In the words of Jesus Christ himself, in Jno. 3:3: 'Verily i say unto thee, except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.' And the fifth verse of the same chapter, 'Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God'

"What does it mean to be born of the Spirit? Not to pray, not to read the Bible, not to become a church member, not to take the sacrament of the Lord's supper, not to be baptized. Not that I desire,' said Dr. Rees, "to underrate the value of all these, but I want to make you understand that these are only an aid to preparation. Don't substitute them for the real thing.

"The essential thing is found in Rev. 3:20: "Behold I stand at the door and knock; if any man hear my voice and open the door I will come in to him, and will sup with him and he with me.'

"Are you born of the Spirit? Does he dwell in your heart? Is your every thought, word and deed controlled by His divine presence? "Marvel not,' said Christ, 'I say unto you, ye must be born again.'"

To those who are not Christians Rev. Mr. Rees put the question: "When are you going to make this preparation?" "No now. Wait for another year?" continued the speaker. "Perhaps ere the day or the hour is gone you will be launched into eternity. May God help you to say without any further delay, 'I will prepare to meet my God.'"

"Lessons From the Slums."

"Lessons from the Slums of New York, London and Paris," was the topic discussed by Dr. Rees at the special service for women in the tent Friday afternoon. The sermon was of especial interest, because based in large measure on personal study and observation. In discussing the slums of Paris, the speaker quoted a verse of scripture which, he said, seemed especially applicable, "Wide is the gate and broad is the way that leadeth to destruction and many there are that go in therea." He spoke of the terrible system of organized vice in the French capital, mentioning the famous resorts, "Death" and "Heaven" as well as the celebrated "Red Mill" or "Moulin Rouge." He described White Chapel and Picadilly Circus in London, as well as the congested districts of the East Side of New York City. In all he pointed out that most surely, "The way of the transgressor is hard."

WILL INSPECT LIGHT PLANT AT HANNIBAL.

Commissioner Brennan To Make Trip to Missouri City Today.

The municipal light plant at Hannibal is said to be a model of its kind and Commissioner Brennan will spend today in Hannibal inspecting this plant and in investigating the plan under which it is operated. The laws of Missouri have for some time permitted cities to do commercial lighting and it is said that the Hannibal plant has been operated in such a way that the city has had its light practically free and has shown an excellent profit from commercial business. An investigation may prove that the good results have been somewhat exaggerated but Mr. Brennan thought the trip would be well worth while.

While there has not been a law in Illinois permitting cities to do commercial lighting some of them have engaged in it where there was no private utility company doing business. This condition exists at Shelbyville and the city plant there has for several years been supplying light to private consumers. Mr. Brennan will also secure facts as to the success of the plant there from a business standpoint.

QUICK RELIEF FOR RHEUMATISM.

George W. Koon, Lawton, Mich., says: "Dr. Detchon's Relief for Rheumatism has given my wife wonderful benefit for rheumatism. She could not lift hand or foot, had to be lifted for two months. She began the use of the remedy and improved rapidly. On Monday she could not move and on Wednesday she got up, dresed herself and walked out for breakfast." Sold by L. P. Allcott druggist.—Adv.

PICTURES ON FASHIONS.

"Mrs. Carter Worthington's Dilema" will be the title of a story put on at the Grand the afternoon and evening of Oct. 22, under the auspices of Montgomery & Deppe. It cost $10,000 to produce the reel of 3,000 feet of pictures and portrays in an interesting and fascinating way the contrast of the styles of a century ago and those of today. Other pictures will also be shown. Montgomery & Deppe expects to give tickets away free to those who call at the store.

ARE DELIGHTED IN SOUTH.

Miss Annie J. Still and Miss Irene Spears have written relatives and friends that they are greatly enjoying their stay in Eureka Springs, Ark. Mrs. Still says she is delighted with the place and intends to make that her home. She will spend the winter there and return to Jacksonville some time in March for a business trip. They speak of attending a big revival meeting conducted in a tent, under Evangelist Rev. W. Brint.

REMOVAL NOTICE.

C. N. Priest, the Ford man, has moved his garage and service station to 228 South Sandy street, where he has the best and safest garage in the city.

Don't Look Old Before Your Time

WOMAN'S delicate system requires more than ordinary care and attention—more care and attention than it is given by the average woman.

Neglect it and ills soon creep in, and the look of old age, sometimes quickly, sometimes gradually follows.

That backache, so common among women, brings with it the sunken cheek, the headache, tired muscles, crow's-feet, and soon the youthful body is no more youthful in appearance—and all because of lack of attention.

There is no reason why you should be so unfortunate, when you have at your disposal a remedy such as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—recommended for over 40 years as a remedy for ailments peculiar to women. We have thousands upon thousands of testimonials on file—the accumulation of 40 years—testifying to its effectiveness. Neither narcotics nor alcohol are to be found in this famous prescription. Regulates irregularities. Corrects displacements. Overcomes painful periods. Tones up nerves. Brings about perfect health. Sold by dealers in medicines, in liquid or tablet form.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, newly revised up-to-date edition, answers hosts of delicate questions about which every woman, single or married ought to know.

CITY LEASES PART OF POWER LINE TO WELLS

Will Construct Remainder of Line to Convey Current From City Plant.

An agreemnt was reached Friday by W. B. Miser, representing the Jacksonville Light Co., and C. R. Knollenberg, representing the city, whereby the city will use the company's power line and poles extending from the corner of Allen avenue and Walnut street to the Widenham & Daub wells. The contract also provides for the use of the company's transformers and meters located at the wells and the yearly rental will be $60, payable in monthly installments. For the remaining distance between the wells and the city light plant, the city will erect poles and a transmission line. Not until this work is completed will the city be able to use its own current in pumping from the wells. It was the plan at first to carry the power by an underground cable, but it was found that to supply this cable would entail a greater expense than the city can stand just at present. The overhead construction can be followed out at about one-third the cost of the cable.

Knoles' hats and caps are the delight of all who wear them.

How to Avoid Those Pains and Distress Which so Many Mothers Have Suffered.

It is a pity more women do not know of Mother's Friend. Here is a remedy that softens the muscles, enables them to expand without any strain upon the ligaments and enables women to go through maternity without pain, nausea, morning sickness or any of the dreaded symptoms so familiar to many mothers.

There is no foolish diet to harass the mind. The thoughts do not dwell upon pain and suffering, for all such are avoided. Thousands of women no longer resign themselves to the thought that sickness and distress are natural. They know better, for in Mother's Friend they have found a wonderful, penetrating remedy to banish all those dreaded experiences.

It is a subject every woman should be familiar with, and even though she may not require such a remedy, she will now and then meet some prospective mother to whom a word in time about Mother's Friend will come as a wonderful blessing. This famous remedy is sold by all druggists, and is only $1.00 a bottle. It is for external use only, and is really worth its weight in gold. Write to-day to the Bradfield Regulator Co., 127 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a most valuable book.

There is a wealth of instruction and comfort to be derived in reading this little book. It is plainly written, just what every woman wants to know, and will be a splendid little textbook for guidance, not only for yourself, but will make you helpful to others. And, in the meantime, do not fail to get a bottle of Mother's Friend at the drug store, and thus fortify yourself against any and all pain and discomfort.

Catholic Priests Endorse Neal Drink and Drug Cure

There is no class or profession in the world that is entitled to the great credit and honor that is due to the PRACTICAL CLERGYMEN of the great Catholic Church for the part they have taken in the international campaign for the PREVENTION treatment and cure of Drink and Drug Adictions by the modern methods originated by Dr. B. E. Neal. Commencing the first week that the first Neal Institute was opened in Des Moines, Iowa, in December, 1909, the Neal Three Day treatment has had the active cooperation and effective influence of such great and good men as Monsignor Flavin, Rev. J. F. Nugent and many others of Iowa, where hundreds of families now enjoy the benefits of the Neal treatment. Space forbids the mention of hundreds of other Catholic Clergymen who have actively aided in saving over 20,000 men and women from drink's curse in the 60 splendid Neal Institutes already established in principal cities. Catholic Priests recognize and act upon the established scientific medical fact that the diseased condition of the drinking man must be CURED BY MEDICINE before he can stop drinking or regain health.

We invite and earnestly urge the investigation and cooperation of all Clergymen and others. Upon application in person, by mail or phone to the NEAL INSTITUTE, SPRINGFIELD—Phone Main 6868—or at No 811 East 49th St., Chicago—phone Oakland 439—we will gladly furnish references, free book and full information to all interested—Adv.

VOLUME OF TRADE IS GRADUALLY ENLARGING

ENACTMENT OF TARIFF BILL RESULTS IN SOME IRREGULARITY.

Changed Tariff Conditions Believed To Have Been Discounted Tend To Restrict Buying Pending Clearer Views on the Trend of Prices.

New York, Oct. 10.—Dun's Review will say tomorrow: Adjustment to new conditions following the enactment of the tariff bill results in some irregularity, yet, in a broad sense, the situation reflects continued improvement. Most reports indicate that the volume of trade is gradually enlarging, the necessity of replenishing depleted merchandise stocks causing increased activity.

The paucity of supplies is so marked in certain lines that difficulty is experienced in filling immediate needs, with shortage of labor hampering some manufacturers. The demand in both jobbing and retail circles continues brisk at the highest prices of the year for many products.

Bradstreet's Report.

New York, Oct. 10.—Bradstreets will say tomorrow:

Cross current in trade matters are noticeable. However, distributive trade sentiment is optimistic, the influence of crop money is being felt in agricultural districts, demand for prompt shipment of textiles is a pronounced feature of a scantly supplied market; buying of staple articles is liberal; most reports indicate that trade generally is ahead of last year when jobbers and manufacturers were enjoying especial activity; collections continue to mend, demand for money for mercantile purposes is good and car shortages are in prospect.

Yet it is probable that trade is a shade less active than last week this being due to an intermingling of various factors. Changed tariff conditions believed by many to have been discounted, tend to restrict buying, pending clearer views on price trends and effects of withdrawals from bonded warehouses and unseasonably warn weather has militated against free distribution.

Business failures for the week ending Oct. 9th, were 314.

EXPERIENCE OF MOTHERHOOD

Advice to Expectant Mothers

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

DAY OF ATONEMENT IS OBSERVED BY JEWS.

Important Holiday Will End at 6 O'clock tonight—Tenth Day of Month of Tishri.

New York, Oct. 10.—There is no greater and more generally observed holiday in the Jewish calendar than Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, the observance of which began at sunset today and continue, with the orthodox, without interruption until the first stars become visible in the sky tomorrow. It is the tenth day of the month of Tishri and ends the period of ten days of penitence which began with Rosh Hashona. No day is holier to the Jews than this, the most rigorously observed of all the days of fasting and penitence.

Beginning with sunset today all orthodox Jews suspend their work and congregate in their temples and synagogues where they will spend day and night, fasting and praying until sundown tomorrow. From this rigorous fast are exempt only the sick, children of tender age and very old persons who would break down under the long fast. Before entering upon the fast a bountiful repast is partaken of. After this is disposed of all repair to the synagogue for the 'Nol Nidre" service, which is the most beautiful and impressive in the Jewish ritual. The ultra orthodox remain in the synagogue through the night and the following day, while the less strict observers and those who by age or sickness are exempt from fasting return to their homes, where they remain quietly until the day of fasting is ended. One of the features of Yom Kippur is its general observance by Jews all over the world. Even the so-called Reform Jews observe the day, although, as a rule, they do not abstain from food and do not spend the whole night and day in their houses of worship.

According to the Talmud, each man conduct is judged and his destiny decided on New Year's Day, and the decree of heaven is sealed on the Day of Atonement. The ten penitential days, beginning with Rosh Hashona and ending with Yom Kippur, are therefore devoted by orthodox Jews to prayer and to settling their accounts with one another, for it is the ancient belief that all sins committed by Israel against the Divine commands are forgiven on the Day of Atonement, but the wrongs committed by man against man do not receive Divine forgiveness unless attempts have been made to right these wrongs.

"SYRUP OF FIGS" FOR CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delcious "FruitLaxative can't harm Tender Little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep 'California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Company. (adv.)

SAN FRANCISCO CELEBRATES.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 10.—San Francisco, which expects to reap immeasurable benefits from the opening of the Panama canal, today indulged in a joyous celebration of the blowing up of the Gamboa dyke, which marks the practical completion of the great waterway connecting the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. The celebration began upon the receipt of a telegraphic signal from the canal zone announcing the destruction of the dyke. Flags were thrown to the breeze, salutes were fired by the warships and the harbor forts, whistles were blown throughout the city and public ceremonies were held in Union Square. Later in the day a large crowd gathered at the exposition grounds, where the site for the Republic of Panama building was formally dedicated by Joseph Lefevre, first secretary of the Panama Legation at Washington.

Knoles' is still selling those fall suits wonderfully cheap.

FREEDOM FOR CANAL ZONE SLAYER.

Panama, Oct. 10.—J. Frank Houston, who last February, killed his fellow-canal worker Harry Stern, whom he accused of ruining his home, will be given his freedom tomorrow, after having spent nine months in prison. His release is the result of a pardon granted him by the Department of Civil Administration in the canal zone upon order of Col. Goethals. The trial judges condemned Houston to ten years in prison. At the time the public was greatly incensed because he was not given a jury trial, and the action of Col. Goethals in freeing Houston has caused great satisfaction among all classes here.

AVOID CATARRH

BrEathe Hyomei—It Medicates the Air You Breathe and Instantly Relieves.

Why continue to suffer from catarrh, stopped up head, husky voice, and other troubles of the breathing organs, when there is an absolutely certain, scientific remedy at hand?

Hyomei is the remedy. It is a pleasant, harmless and antiseptic medication which you breathe through a small inhaler. Breathing a few times daily through the inhaler charges the air with this germ-killing antiseptic. Catarrhal discharges, sniffles, foul breath, watery eyes and the formation of crusts in the nose are promptly relieved by this medicated air.

It is guaranteed to do it, or money back.

A complete Hyomei outfit, consisting of a strong, hard rubber pocket inhaler and a bottle of Hyomei costs only $1.00, and extra bottles, if afterwards needed, are only 50 cents, each. Druggists everywhere sell Hyomei.

Use Hyomei for bronchitis, coughs and cold in the head, husky voice, croup of infants, and any inflammatory disease of the breathing organs.—Adv.

A CATHOLIC GOLDEN JUBILEE.

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 10.—Under the auspices of the Gonzaga university of this city an interesting celebration was held today in honor of the golden jubilee of the planting of the Catholic faith in this section of the country. The central figure in the celebration was the venerable Father Joseph Caruana, the first Catholic missionary among the Indians of the Pacific northwest and recognized as the founder of the Catholic faith in what was then known as Oregon. It was fifty years ago today that Father Caruana baptized seventy-five Indian children, members of the Coeur d' Alene tribe, the baptism being held on the site now occupied by the Northern Pacific railway's passenger station in this city.

Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—But one victory stands between the Philadelphia Athletics and the world's championship in baseball tonight, for the Mackmen defeated the New York Giants at Shibe park this afternoon by a score of 6 to 5 in the fourth game of the titular series. Before the contest was clinched, however, 20,000 Quaker City fans suffered a period of anxious suspense that will keep the Giants' eleventh hour batting rally green in their memory for some seasons to come. The game effort of the National leaguers to overtake their rivals in the closing innings of the game changed the entire complexion of the battle, lifting what appeared to be a one-sided match into a contest that hung in the balance until the last putout.

The desperate, but as it proved futile, rally of the Giants came like a bolt from a clear sky. "Chief" Bender, the Chippewa Indian master of mysterious curve and break, had held the Giants runless for six innings while his teammates by pile-driving hits had scored as many runs at the expense of Demaree and Marquard. Already the fans that filled every seat in the stands and bleachers were exulting in the downfall of the New York club. Bender, confident in the big lead of his team, was pitching consistent ball and there was not a single danger signal in sight. Suddenly the Giants became transformed from hitless weaklings to real Giants, who hammered the speed and slants of the Indian twirler to all parts of the park.

Giants Score Three in Seventh.

It was in the "lucky seventh" that the storm of hits burst upon the astonished Athletics and before the aborigine and his fellow players could recover three Giants had crossed the plate and the fusillade continued into the next session when two more scored and the team which was but a few moment before apparently outclassed was battering down the last defenses of the Mackmen.

It was the narrowest kind of an escape and but for the equally heavy hitting of the Athletics in the fore part of the game and some brilliant displays of defensive tactics, the Giants would now be on even terms with the Philadelphians, instead of trailing two games in the rear. The rally was effective, however, in that it encouraged the men of McGraw to believe that they might yet overtake the flying Athletics. The probabilities are much against such a feat but the Giants are prepared for a last strand at the Polo grounds tomorrow and claim that if they can once get going they will yet win the series.

All the circumstances point in the opposite direction, however, for the Mackmen with a record of three victories out of four games are now well versed in the ability and resources of the Giants. When they drove Demaree from the box at the end of the fourth inning after four runs had been scored from his delivery, it marked the passage of every New York pitcher, except the veteran Christy Mathewson. In four games Marquard, Crandall, Tesreau and Demaree have all fallen before the terrific hitting of the heavy batting Athletics.

Only Mathewson in his wonderful exhibition of Wednesday when he shut them out has been able to hold the American league pennant winners in check.

Snodgrass limped slightly as he walked to the plate to open the game. Bender, who had warmed up well, lost no time in getting into action and served up a strike which Snodgrass let go by. Another strike went over and then Snodgrass raised a high foul which Baker gathered in. Doyle sent up a long high fly to Strunk. Fletcher ended the inning by grounding to Barry, who threw him out at first.

Demaree's first offering to Eddie Murphy was a strike. He was cheered by the big New York contingent. Murphy lifted the next pitch to deep right center and was out as Snodgrass made a fine catch. Oldring, who has hit safely the first time up in all the present world's series games, cut loose again and sent a terrific drive down the right field foul line for three bases.

Collins Steals Second.

Collins, after getting a ball and fouling off the second pitch, chopped a grounder down to Merkle, who made a lightning throw to McLean to catch the flying Oldring. The play at the plate was close and Umpire Egan called Oldring out, at which the latter fired up and protested vigorously. Then came a daring play which upset the New York infield for a moment. While Demaree was watching McLean signaling for the next ball, Collins made a dash for second base. The young pitcher instead of throwing to second shot the ball to Merkle, who made a quick throw to the middle bag, but Collins easily slid into the base for a steal. Collins was left stranded at second, however, as Baker raised a high foul fly to Shafer.

Burns opened the second for the Nationals by flying out to Murphy. Shafer fell a victim to strikes. Murray reached first base when Bender hit him on the arm with a pitched ball. McLean sent a slashing single to right on which Murray sprinted to third. Merkle sent up a high foul, which McInnis caught, retiring the side.

In Philadelphia's half, Snodgrass, owing to his "charley horse," could not reach McInnis' Texas leaguer and the runner was safe at first. Strunk laid down a sacrifice, Demareeto Merkle, advancing McInnis to second. After Merkle had dropped Barry's high foul fly, the Philadelphia shortstop shot a solid drive down the left field line for two bases, on which McInnis scored. Schang drew a base on balls and the two runners were left on the bags when Bender and Murphy flew out.

Demaree sent a long fly to Murphy. Snodgrass attempted to bunt safely, but was easily out at first, Bender to McInnis. Doyle raised a fly to Strunk. Manager McGraw then took Snodgrass out of the game, sending Shafer to center and Herzog to third.

Oldring was an easy out on his grounder, Demaree to Merkle. Collins lifted a fly to Burns and Baker went out, Doyle to Merkle.

The Giants were quickly retired in the first half of the fourth. Fletcher's first was a strike and when he finally met the ball it was only a fly out to Collins. Burns went out on a high fly to Baker and Shafer struckout.

Score Three in the Fourth.

The Atheltics' beginning came in fourth. McInnis grounded out, Doyle to Merkle. Strunk crashed a hit down to Herzog, who could not field the ball in time to catch the flying center-fielder. Strunk rushed to third on Barry's smash for a single to center, the latter going down to second on a throw to third to head off the Philadelphia centerfielder. Then Schang came through with a timely drive for one base on which both Strunk and Barry flashed across the place. Shafer tried to catch Barry at the home base and on the throw in Schang trotted down to second. A passed ball enabled Schang to sprint to third and he scored when Merkle fumbled Bender's grounder. Murphy flew out to Doyle. Oldring singled to center, on which Bender took second. Collins chopped a short grounder and McLean threw him out.

Opening the fifth Murray drew a base on balls. McLean singled to center on which Murray took third. McGraw here took McLean out of the game and let Cooper run for him. A quick throw by Schang nearly caught the runner off first. Merkle struckout and McCormick batted for Demaree. It was three and two on the big hitter when he caught one of Bender's fast ones and shot it like a bullet to short left field. Oldring caught the ball on the run and continuing his sprint held Murray on third and Cooper on first. With Herzog up, Cooper tried to steal. Schang feinted to throw to third to drive Murray back, then quickly turned and made a swift accurate throw to Collins, who touched Cooper out, coming into the bag.

And Two More Off Marquard.

The American league champions added two more runs in their half of the inning off Marquard, who replaced Demaree. Wilson went in to catch. Baker, the first man up, struck out and McInnis grounded out, Marquard to Merkle. Strunk received a base on balls and reached third on Barry's two bagger. The two runners were brought home by Schang, who hit to center for a single. Bender struckout.

The Giants were quickly retired in the sixth inning. Herzog went out, Barry to McInnis. Doyle was struck out and Fletcher lifted a fly to Strunk.

Neither was there anything to the Athletics' half of the inning. Murphy sent a bounder to Doyle and was thrown out. Oldring missed a third strike and Wilson, dropping the ball, threw him out at first. Collins flied to Fletcher.

Burns opened New York's seventh with a single, Bender batting down the ball, but being unable to field it. Shafer sent up a high fly to Collins. Murray shot a single into left field and Burns was held on second. With three balls and two strikes on him, Wilson struckout, but Burns and Murray made a double steal. Schang threw to third, but Baker could not hold the throw with Burns coming into the bag feet first. Then New York got into the game again on a hard drive by Merkle for a home run, scoring Burns and Murray ahead of him. The ball travelled fast to left center, struck the ground several feet in front of the center field bleachers and bounded into the stand. New York fans cheered frantically as they realized that their team had cut the Athletics' lead in half. Marquard ended the inning by hitting a weak grounder to Bender, who threw him out.

The Atheltics swung their bats hard against Marquard's pitching in their half of the seventh, but went out in order. Baker flied to Herzog. McInnis lifted a foul fly which Herzog also gathered in and Doyle threw out Strunk at first.

Murray Unequal to Task.

Herzog opened the eighth with a single to left and was forced at second when Collins grabbed Doyle's grounder and threw to Barry. Fletcher forced Doyle at second Bender to Barry. Burns hit to the extreme left field corner of the grounds for two bases and Fletcher raced home with New York's fourth run. The New York rooters fairly went wild when Shafer hit for three bases down the right field line, scoring Burns with the fifth run. It was then up to Murray to send home the tying run, but all he could do was to hit a grounder to Collins and was tossed out at first.

Realizing that the Giants were dangerously near, the American leaguers again went at Marquard viciously, but the left hander held them safe. Barry sent out a long fly to Murray. Schang was given a base on balls. Bender flied to Murray and there were groans when Murphy hit straight to Doyle, who stepped over to second, forcing out Schang.

Crandall, New York's hard hitting pitcher, went in to bat for Wilson in New York's ninth and grounded out, Collins to McInnis. Merkle made a mighty effort to get in another long hit, but Murphy caught his fly in deep right. Eddie Grant was sent in to bat for Marquard. He took the limit in balls and strikes, then fouled out to Schang, who caught the ball behind the plate half way to the grand stand and the game was over.

HUMPHRIES HOLDS WHITE SOX SCORELESS

SOUTH SIDERS HELPLESS BEFORE CUB PITCHER'S BAFFLING CURVES.

Only Two American Leaguers Get as Far as Second Base—Savage Batting of West Siders In Sixth and Seventh Nets Eight Runs—Errors Help In Undoing of Scott.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Bert Humphries' brilliant pitching and a terrific onslaught on Jim Scott's offerings in the sixth and seventh innings gave the Chicago Nationals the lead in the city championship series today, the third game going to the West Siders by the score of 8 to 0.

The American Leaguers were helpless before Humphries' baffling curves and made only four hits, only one of which was entirely free from the stigma of "scratch."

Only two of the South Siders got as far as second base and not one beyond that point while the Cub pitcher had seven strike outs to his credit, Bodie and Schalk twice being victims.

Poor fielding helped in the undoing of Scott and the general rout of the White Sox. A wild throw by Collins was sandwiched among the hits by Evers, Schulte, Saier and Good in the sixth and the combination netted three runs.

With one out in the seventh another series of hits with errors by Bodie and Weaver added five to the total. There was one out when Leach began the attack in the seventh with a double into the crowd. Evers walked and Schulte slammed a single to right, Leach scoring. Zimmerman beat out a bunt, scoring Evers and after Saier had struckout, Good got a safe drive to right. Schulte counted on the hit but Bodie made a mess of retrieving the ball and Zimmerman sped over the plate, Good going to second. Weaver fumbled Bridwell's grounder and Good scored.

Just before the game the announcer shouted the news of blowing up Gamboa dike of the Panama canal, removing the last obstacle in the water way. The band then played "The Star Spangled Banner" while every one in stands and field, including the players of each club stood with bared head. A mighty cheer was given at the conclusion of the anthem.

The attendance taxed the capacity of the West Side Park. Official figures were:

Attendance—17,897.
Total receipts—$12,918.
Commission's share—$1,291.
Players share—$6,975.
Each club—$2,325.

"Pol" Perrett for the Nationals was effective in all but one inning, yielding but one run while his teammates touched Baumgardner for four tallies. Score:

SOME OFF-SIDE CHUTES.

Ping Bodie is following in the wake of Fred Clarke in the Pirate's war upon the present day grandstand. The White Sox ivory misjudged a fly from Archer's bat in fourth inning of Thursday's game. There were two men on and two out, and the exposure of the bone cost Comiskey the game. When Kid Gleason called Bodie on his fluke the swaggering Ping blamed the blow upon the size of the grand stand, the sun, etc. Gleason chased him into the rathskiller with a few words sounding thusly: —————!

New York is making much ado because on Thursday three tinhorn speculators were arrested near the Polo grounds, taken before a police magistrate and mulct for $10 and costs each. The big hold-ups around the hotels, however, continued to skin the easy-going public without interference from Waldo's minions.

* * *

The Indians on the reservations in Oregon and Washington are traveling from 150 to 300 miles into Portland and Seattle to watch the returns from the world's series. The northwest redmen are strong pullers for Chief Bender against Chief Meyers and his mates.

* * *

Jack Herbert, formerly with Bloomington, and recently manager at Pekin, Ill., has moved up, and next year will play at the keystone sack and manage Cedar Rapids in the Central association. Jack is a scrappy player and as a manager is a strict disciplinarian. Here's hoping he climbs still higher.

* * *

Over in Lansing, Mich., the citizens for several weeks past have been passing the hat and working the endless chain scheme to raise mazuma with which to purchase a loving cup for Vic Saier, the Cub guardian of the first corner. The young star is beginning to worry as to what use the goblet will be to him. He does not imbibe the foaming suds, and the stuff which is red and Vic are not on speaking terms.

* * *

Fans were much wrought in a discussion yesterday as to where Leslie Bush, the "hero" of Thursday originated. Many small wagers of cigars, neckties, etc., were made to the effect that he was a product of Montana. Others had it that he was a native son of California. The youngster, as a ball player, was developed at Missoula, Mont., in the Union association, but his home is Brainerd, Minn.

* * *

Chief Meyers will not be able to get back into the game, even if the series lasts another week, according to the surgeons. Both fingers of his throwing hand have been put in splints, and his attendants have advised that the Indian be not allowed to fondle the ball before next spring.

Prince Hermis, son of that grand old campaigner and winner of Derbys and Suburbans, showed the way to a big field at Louisville on Thursday and run the mile in the fast time of 1:39 flat. Like his sire, Prince Hermis is all game, enjoys a hand ride and flunks from the whip and the spur.

* * *

Gunboat Smith was so much superior to Carl Morris in their scheduled ten-round go at New York that in order to save himself from an impending haymaker, the Oklahoma giant engineer fouled the man o'warsman in the fifth session and was disqualified. And that is not all. Morris has put himself in bad with the boxing commission, so that it will take no little explanation by him and his manager to be kept off the blacklist. His work was coarse, when he realized Smith was his master, and convinced many at the ringside that he, to be charitable, is a big load of mulch.

* * *

Mike Gibbons, the clever welterweight, gained a newspaper decision over "Spike" Kelly in their clash at Kenosha. The Mineapolis scholar, according to reports, put up a grand imitation of Packey McFarland, his ring generalship, side-stepping, blocking and jabbing being much after the style of the stock yards Adonis. The go was his in eight of the ten sessions, but the Greek with the Irish alibi, was strong at the end of the hostilities.

SINGLE OUT NEW TARGET FOR ATTACK

AMALGAMATED COPPER IS CONSPICUOUSLY WEAK STOCK.

Fluctuations Are Uncertain But as Whole Movement is Downward—After Slump in the Morning List Picks up on Short Covering But Another Decline Comes Before the Close.

(By Associated Press)

New York, Oct. 10.—Bear traders singled out a new target for their attack today and as a result Amalgamated copper was the conspicuously weak stock among the leaders. Fluctuations were again uncertain but the movement as a whole was downward. After a slump in the morning which depressed leading stocks 1 to 2 points, the list picked up on short covering but the advance marked no genuine accession of strength and another decline came before the close. In connection with the weakness of Amalgamated, the break in the London copper metal market and reports of further price shading here were referred today.

Amer. Telephone securities resumed their decline and the stock fell 2 points to 122⅛, a new low record since 1908.

Steel made the best showing of any of the leaders, remaining above yesterday's low point.

Owing largely to heavy payments by the banks to the sub-treasury for customs duties in connection with the release of goods held in bond until the new tariff law became operative, it is probable that another loss in cash will be shown on the week. Forecasts of the bank statement pointed to a shrinkage of $3,000,000 to $4,000,000.

WHEAT VALUES HARDEN AFTER SELLING DRIVE

FALLING OFF OF RECEIPTS GIVE BUOYANCY TO WHEAT.

Sentiment Against Bear Side Increases Rapidly When it is Found Receipts Have Diminished—Corn Traders Change View Regarding Government Report.

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Falling off of receipts at primary terminals gave considerable buoyancy today to wheat. Largely in consequence the market closed steadily at a net advance of ½@⅝c to ⅝c. Corn showed a gain of ¼c to ⅝@¾c over last night and oats a setback of a shade.

In provisions, the outcome ranged from unchanged figures to 12½c decline.

Wheat values began to harden after a selling drive early had demonstrated that the market possessed good support. Shorts were uneasy on account of disappointment as to the government estimate. Sentiment later against the bear side increased rapidly when it was found that receipts in other directions had diminished almost as much as in the spring crop belt.

Talk of uncertainty regarding the effect of recent tariff legislation was offset in the wheat pit by the statement that prices were now 5c to 5½c lower than a month ago.

Corn traders who at first construed the government report as decidedly bearish took an opposite view after attention had been directed to unofficial figures on abandoned acreage.

Oats weakened owing to the heavily increased yield shown by the government estimate. The market, though made a complete recovery in sympathy with the corn bulge.

Later declines in prices for hogs took away benefits that the provision market had received earlier owing to temporary strength at the yards. There was some talk of an improved call from Germany for lard.

Agricultural News Valuable To Farmers

MAKES POOR LAND HIGHLY PRODUCTIVE

FORTY ACRE FIELD PRODUCES LARGE AMOUNT OF WHEAT.

Cyril G. Hopkins Tells How Agriculturally Abandoned Field is Fertilized—Is Not an Experiment Station.

(By Cyril G. Hopkins, Chief in Agronomy and Chemistry, University Illinois).

In November, 1903, I purchased a farm in southern Illinois at a cost of less than $20 an acre. It comprised about 300 acres of poor gray prairie land (the commonest type of soil in about twenty counties in that part of the state) and a few acres of timber land.

It was christened "Poorland Farm" by others who knew of its impoverished condition, and I finally adopted this as the farm name.

In 1913 a 40 acre field of this farm produced 1,320 bushels of wheat; and because of numerous requests for information regarding the treatment that has been given the land, this circular is issued.

This particular 40 acres was bought at $15 an acre. It had been agriculturally abandoned for five years prior to 1904, and was covered with a scant growth of red sorrel, poverty grass, and weeds.

During the ten years this field has been cropped with a six year rotation including one year each of corn,oats (or cowpeas), and wheat and three years of meadow and pasture with clover and timothy.

A fairly good stand of volunteer clover appeared with the oats in 1911 and this was allowed to produce a crop of clover hay in 1912, wheat being seeded in the fall of that year for the 1913 crop mentioned above.

During the ten years about four tons per acre of ground limestone and two tons per acre of fine ground raw phosphate have been applied to 37 acres of this field. Two applications have been made of each material; the phosphate was plowed down for the corn crops of 1904 and 1910, and the limestone was applied in the fall and winter of 1904-5 and after the ground was plowed for wheat in the fall of 1912.

The entire 40 acre field was covered with one uniform application of six loads per acre of farm manure with a 50 bushel spreader.

A six rod strip entirely across the field (80 rods) received the same application of manure and the same rotation of crops as the remaining 37 acres, but no phosphate was applied to this strip, and no limestone was applied to it until the fall of 1912, when the regular application (about two tons per acre) was applied to one-half (three rods) of the six rod strip.

Only 39 acres of this field were seeded to wheat in the fall of 1912, a lane having been fenced off on one side; and the 1,320 bushels were produced on the 39 acres.

The actual yields were as follows:

One and one-half acres with farm manure alone produced 11½ bushels per acre.

One and one-half acres with farm manure and the one application of ground limestone produced 15 bushels per acre.

Thirty-six acres with farm manure and two applications of ground limestone and two of fine ground phosphate produced 35½ bushels per acre.

The cost of two tons of limestone delivered at my railroad station is $2.[illegible] and raw rock phosphate has averaged about $6.75 per ton, making $9 per acre the cost for each six years.

To this must be added the expense of hauling these materials two miles from the station and spreading them on the land, which I estimate at 50 cents per ton. This makes the average annual cost $1.75 per acre for the limestone and phosphate spread on the field, and this average annual investment resulted in the increase of 2 bushels of wheat per acre in 1913.

Thus we may say that the previous application of these two natural stones brought about the production in 1913 of 864 bushels of wheat, sufficient to furnish a year's supply of bread for more than a hundred people. No high priced or artificial commercial fertilizers are used on this farm.

As a rule the check strips across each of the six 40 acre fields in the rotation are not harvested separately from therest of the fields. The limestone and phosphate have produced even more marked differences in clover than in wheat; and where the first application of limestone was made to the three rod check strip, as well as to the 37 acres receiving rock phosphate, the superiority of the phosphate and limestone together over the limestone alone has been exceedingly marked on both clover and wheat; and of course, the wheat and other grain crops are benefited not only by the limestone and phosphate but also by the previous increased growth of clover on the well treated land, especially where this is pastured or plowed under.

Poorland Farm is in no sense an experiment station, and neither is it a "show" farm. It is operated solely from the economic standpoint and with the full understanding from the beginning that general farming is not a highly profitable business, and that it is highly unprofitable on poor land. On the other hand it is equally well known that intelligent permanent soil improvement on land that must be or will be farmed is both the safest and the most profitable investment open to the farmer and land owner. But both the difficulties and the methods of building up rundown soil have been repeatedly discussed by the writer, in public addresses and in published articles, bulletins and books, and there is no necessity of repeating them here. Poorland Farm is usually inspected each year by my class of university students in soil fertility, about one hundred of whom saw the fields of wheat and clover in June, 1913. It is for the benefit of such as these, who desire to know the truth regarding economic systems of permanent soil improvement, that this brief statement is published. The farm is a purely private enterprise operated by Hopkins Brothers; and, while interested visitors are welcome, they are not invited, not met at the train with automobiles and are not entertained. There is no desire to advertise this farm, but, on the other hand, any light it sheds need not be hidden.

EXPORTS OF FRUITS AND VEGETABLES EXCEED WHEAT

T. E. Goodrich, Quotes Figures Showing that Fruits and Vegetables Bring Back Most of Money.

(By E. E. Goodrich, Cobden, Ill.) (To Summer Meeting of the State Horticultural Society, at Anna, Ill)

In the year 1911 there was exported from the United States vegetables and vegetable matter to the amount of $2,574,000; fruits, fresh

Of wheat there was exported $23-574,000.

Of wheat there wa sexported $23,-000,000—leaving a balance of one-half million of dollars in favor of fruits and vegetables.

Now, farmers talk of their golden grain; statesmen declaim of the wheat paying our foreign debts and keeping up "the balance of trade," as if it was of greatest importance to American finance; as though our government could not quite get along without it.

But here are the government figures to prove that the modest fruits and vegetables are bringing back the most money. They do not boast of their mighty financial deeds, but keep on sawing wood.

Recently we all visited a Cobden apple orchard of 40 acres that has been shipping 300 barrels a day for the past several weeks. Each barrel contains three bushels, of 900 a day. Here is an output of more than 10,-000 bushels from 40 acres. Plenty of smaller orchards, with a proportionate yield.

Now where is the 40 acres of grain anywhere in the wide world that has ever made such a yield of bushels, to say nothing of money value?

I can compare peaches, tomatoes and sweet potatoes in the same way.

But, lest this year's unusually good prices are taken as a criterion, and leads some one to planting and fail, it will be well to remind planters of failures of crops by rain, frosts and drouth, of glutted markets and low prices.

MILK REQUIRED TO RAISE A CALF

EXPERIMENT IS DIVIDED INTO THREE TESTS.

Work Demonstrates That Most Important Thing in Raising Calves Is to Give Them a Good Start—How to Feed Them.

(By Prof. W. J. Fraser and R. E. Brand, University of Illinois).

A preliminary article reviewed conditions in regard to dairy herds in Illinois and stated that there was great need that dairymen should raise the heifer calves from the best cows.

How the experiment was conducted to determine amount of milk Necessary to insure calves a satisfactory start in life.

The experiment was divided into three tests. (For complete details write for Bulletin No. 164, Agricultural Experiment Station, Urbana, Illinois).

The calves were allowed to remain with their dams during the first 24 hours and were then removed and weighed. During the first four days they were fed their mothers' milk, according to appetite, care being taken to keep them from overfeeding. After this they were fed whole and skim milk in the amounts shown in the tables. In all cases the milk was fed clean and warm as it came from the separator; had it been allowed to become contaminated or had it been fed cold or sour, digestive trouble would surely have been the result.

As most farmers will not take sufficient trouble to properly use substitutes for milk, if at all, none were used in this experiment. The calves were transferred from milk to a ration composed of grain, clover hay, and pasture, thus making the data acquired more directly applicable to ordinary farm conditions.

The chief economic question that determines whether or not dairymen in Illinois shall raise heifer calves is not the cost of the grain, hay and pasture which the calves consume, but the amount of milk that it takes to get them started in life successfully. For this reason no record was kept of the amounts of grain and hay consumed. Furthermore, although the feeds were weighed to each lot, it was impossible to tell how much was consumed individually at any given age, because the calves even within a lot were of different ages and the young ones often slobbered over some of the grain so that it had to be removed.

How the First Test was Conducted.

For the first test ten calves were divided into three lots of three calves each; the remaining calf, No. 10, being fed separately.

These calves were from grades cows in the university herd. Many males were used, because not enough heifer calves were available.

The object of the experiment was to determine how economically a calf can be successfully raised on whole and skim milk, and since skim milk is cheaper, some of the calves were given only a small quantity of whole milk, the attempt being made to feed them largely upon skim milk when but a few days old. This deranged the calves' digestion very seriously in some cases.

Tables were made showing the length of time both whole and skim milk were fed to each calf, the amounts fed, and the rapidity with which the change was made from whole to skim milk.

Four of the calves were given only 15 to 21 pounds of whole milk each. Changing so early to skim milk had a tendency to derange their digestions at first, and they did not do well afterwards even though the skim milk was continued longer than would have been necessary had they been given a better start on whole milk, as was done with other calves.

In this preliminary work, three calves were entirely cut off from milk at 42, 45 and 46 days of age, respectively. Being obliged to subsist upon grain and hay before their digestive organs were able to take care of this kind of food, the calves developed a feverish condition in their digestive tracts. This gave them an abnormal craving which they tried to satisfy with water, drinking such large quantities that they breathed with great difficulty. Their digestive troubles seemed only to be increased by this excessive amount of water, and later, when the amount given them was limited, rapid improvement was noticeable. Although these calves were decidely thin at two months of age, with careful feeding they later developed into good animals, as may be seen from the accompanying cut.

This preliminary work demonstrated in a very striking manner that the most important thing in rasing calves is to give them a good start. During the first two weeks of their lives they must be fed a reasonable amount of milk containing about 3 per cent of butter fat. After this, their fede may be gradually changed to skim milk, but until they are about eight weeks old they must still receive practically all of their nourishment in the form of milk. This work demonstraated also that if calves are required to obtain even a portion of their nutrients from grains or hay when they are less than seven weeks old, their digestions will become badly deranged and even though they are continued on a generous amount of skim milk for a considerable length of time, damage has been done from which they will not recover rapidly.

The grain used to suplement the milk fed to one lot of calves was corn alone, and to the other lots, a mixture of grains higher on protein. This proved to be true only when the calves were given a large amount of skim milk. When the amount of both whole and skim milk was limited, the grain best suited to feedings was found to depend to a considerable extent upon its palatability. When skim milk was no longer fed of course the ration must contain a large amount of protein if the calves are to thrive upon it.

Calf No. 5, Lot 2.

This calf received 176 pounds of whole milk and only 148 pounds of skim milk; a total of 324 pounds. Although very thin for a time, it was in good condition when seven months of age.

All the calves in each lot were doing practically as well at same age.

MOST PROMINENT CORN CRIB IS SILO

WILL TAKE IMPORTANT PLACE IN ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT.

Considering Its Usefulness a Silo is the Cheapest Structure on the Farm—Cost Will Vary but it is Advisable to Put Up a Good One.

(By William G. Eckhardt, Agriculturist, DeKalb County, Illinois).

The most prominent corn crib of today is without doubt, the silo. It is destined to take a most important place in the economic development of agriculture. Lands have advanced during the past fifteen or twenty years to such prices that one can no longer become an owner of land unless he can economically meet the conditions facing him. The growing of oats, the production of 50 bushel corn cops, the selling of corn at ordinary market prices and the ordinary use of pastures, excepting for hogs, will never make it possible for one to pay for $200 land by the products grown. It will be necessary for one to do better than this.

Let us contrast the possibilities of the silo and the pasture for producing feed for cattle. Ordinarily, it will take two acres of common pasture land to produce feed for one grown cow or steer per season. Part of the summer the stock is kept busy fighting flies and finding enough feed to sustain life. Compare this condition to that of the cow that gets her allotment of feed twice a day. She fills up on a good succulent feed, lays in the shade chewing her cud and devoting her energies to the production of milk. An acre of 80 bushel corn should produce about 15 tons of silage. Fifteen tons of silage is 30,000 pounds. An ordinary steer will eat from 20 to 30 pounds of silage per day, depending on the age and amount and kind of other feeds. We will say 30 pounds per day. This means one thousand days' feed for one steer from one acre of corn. In other words, an acre of corn fed as silage will produce as much feed as five to six acres of pasture. The pasture will hence need give way to fields of corn, grain and clover or alfalfa on all such land as is adapted to cultivated crops.

The cost of a silo will vary, but it is surely advisable to put up a good one. I would consider the solid concrete reinforced with heavy wires or square twisted steel, also the hollow tile among the very best. I consider next the cement block, next the cement stave and finally the wood silo.

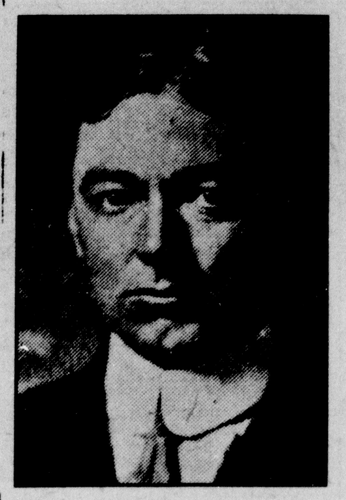

Last fall I went to the farm of Hall & Hall, Aurora, Ill. One cement silo has done service nine years, another seven years, and still another five years. Joseph E. Wing told me of one cement silo on his farm doing service for twelve years, all still in good condition.

The silo, considering its usefulness, is the cheapest structure on the farm. A few facts should be kept in mind in building a silo. First, a few dollars extra at the beginning, divided during many years of service, amounts to very little per acre, and is surely a good investment. Second, build the silo high, 40 or 50 feet, and for the average farm, not over 14 feet in diameter, and preferably 12 feet. The smaller diameter makes it possible to take the silage to a greater depth and less feed will be spoiled, which becomes a very important item for summer feeding. It will be much better to build two 12 foot silos and one 16 foot silo.

Third, the foundation is of very vital importance, and this should be well made, far below the line of frost, and the bottom of the wall can well be 18 inches thick. Have a tile laid to take the water away from the wall. A floor is not necessary.

In one township of De Kalb county 28 silos were built in the season of 1912, and previous to this time only three silos were in the township. Most of these silos have a six inch reinforced concrete wall, concrete chute and roof. This job is surely done for a long time.

The silo, the growing of alfalfa, and the increased production of other crops by proper soil treatment, backed by brains, will make it as easy to pay for $250 land as it was for our fathers with the lower prices, but more primitive systems of farming.

DR. FRANK RULE HAS BEEN LONG IN METHODIST MINISTRY

Brother-in-Law of Capt. Alexander Smith Will Be Honored by Church—Has Been in the Work for Forty-five Years—Record Is Unusual.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press in a recent issue presents a picture of Dr. Frank M. Rule of that city and of the Holman Memorial Methodist church he is serving. Dr. Rule is a brother-in-law of Capt. Alexander Smith of this city and his son, John M. Rule married Miss Robertine Mathews of this city.

Dr. Rule has been a Methodist minister for the past forty-five years and his parishioners are making preparations for a due observance of that important anniversary. He is now sixty-eight years of age, but is as strong and well as he was twenty years ago and feels just as able to carry on his work.

Dr. Rule holds many important positions in Methodist church organizations. He is a member of the Methodist Sunday school board, one of the important committees appointed by the national general conference of the Methodist church, which meets every four years. He is also secretary of the Minnesota branch of the Federal Council of the Church of Christ in America, an interdenominational organization. He is a director on many of the charitable and missionary associations of the Methodist churches of the city.

The newspaper article referred to pays very marked tribute to Dr. Rule's character and work. The writer said among other things:

Dr. Rule first entered the ministry in 1868 while living in Indiana. He has been a resident of Minnesota thirty years, and it is said of him that he is the best known and best liked minister in the state. He has been termed "the best mixer" among the ministers, and, as an example of his popularity, his friends tell of an ovation given him at the last conference in Mankato. He held a pastorate there twenty years ago.

Is Hale at 68.

Dr. Rule is as hale at 68 as a man in his prime. He is never ill, he says, and is as active as his younger co-workers. When asked the secret of his ability to keep up the pace, Dr. Rule said: "A man is as young as he feels. I feel just as young as I did forty years ago. Furthermore, I try to keep up with the times. I don't believe in moaning about the goodness of yesterdays and the evil ways the latter generations are falling into. I believe that the sun set on a better world tonight than it ever did before in history. The world is progressing, and my advice is to be progressive like the world. It is the only way to keep young in mind and body."

Bishop Quayle Praises.

"I consider the Rev. Dr. Rule an asset for any community," said Bishop Quayle. "He has been a lifetime serving the church and his fellow men and has a degree of love, not only in St. Paul and throught his conference, but as well throughout the United States.

"He is a urbane, genial, high-minded, pure-minded, gracious, unaffected gentleman, of whom all wise men would make the statement: 'We have met a gentleman when we have met Dr. Rule.' He is an even man. You always know that wherever he has seen you or will see you, at home, on the streets, in church gatherings, or at social functions he will be cordially glad to see you.

Calls Him Christian Gentleman.

"There is nothing feverish about him, but all is steady and lovely. He does not seek-pre-eminence, but his brethren have loved to give him pre-eminence, and if anybody should wish to know how a Christian gentleman behaves and looks, all such a one need do is to come in contact with Dr. Rule."

Dr. Rule was born in Greensborough county, Virginia, April 20, 1845. Hhis family was of old American stock and some of his grandparents fought in the early wars against the British. In 1859 he moved with his parents to Marion, Ind. He volunteered for the Civil war in 1862, but as he was only 17 at the time, he was not allowed to enlist.

In 1868, at the age of 23, Dr. Rule entered the clergy. He preached at various churches for many years at Lafayette, Michigan City and South Bend, Ind. In 1883 he moved to Minnesota and for two years was connected with the church at Northfield. Later he held important church positions at Pipestone, Marshall, Mankato and Minneapolis, until given his present charge.

STUDY OF ESSENTIAL INGREDIENTS OF BREAD

YEAST IS IMPORTANT PART OF PRODUCT.

Failure to Appreciate Fact That Yeasts are Plants and Therefore Require Conditions Favorable to Plant Growth Causes Much Difficulty.

(By Isabel Bevier, Department of Household Science, University of Illinois).

The usual forms of yeast on the market are compressed and dry yeast. Liquid yeast can be secured at most bake shops, from which some women prefer to secure it as needed, while others prefer to make it in their own homes or to buy in the market one of the two forms to be found there. In any case, all women recognize that the essential part of the product is the yeast plant, which, in the driel cake, may be combined with corn meal as a carrier. (Sometimes the flavor of the bread is spoiled by the rancidity of the corn meal used). "Compressed yeast" is a term applied to yeasts grown in a special way, purified by repeated washing and compressed into cakes by the addition of corn starch or other binding material. It has the advantage of giving a large amount of yeast in a small bulk, but care is needed in keeping it because it deteriorates rapidly on exposure to air or warmth.

Home made yeasts are essentially mixtures of flour, water and potatoes, with the dry yeasts found in the market or with other yeast as a "starter." Home made yeast is sometimes made into cakes as is the dry yeast of the market, but more often it is kept in liquid form or in that of a sponge. Much difficulty has arisen in the use and care of home made yeasts because of a failure to appreciate the fact that yeasts are plants and therefore require conditions favorable for plant growth. Moreover, careless or uncleanly handling of the yeast in regard to the vessel in which it is kept allows bacteria to mingle with the yeasts. As these multiply, they sometimes give an unpleasant flavor to the bread. The practice of keeping a bit of dough in the flour barrel as a "starter" is not to be commended, and the woman who does not understand "why this yeast that made such good bread a month ago will not work now," will find a probable explanation in the fact that the yeasts have taken from the potato water, of the flour and sugar, all the food they contained for the yeast plant and so it has died from starvation, or from the poisonous effects of its own growth. Meantime the bacteria have increased in number and given an acid character to the bread, resulting in the familiar undesirable our flavor so characteristic of certain home madebreads.

Miss Williams, a former student in the university, confirmed by her experiments in previous work done in this laboratory in regard to the deterioration of home made yeasts and seemed to establish the fact that the way to maintain such yeasts in good condition is to change the medium frequently, that is make the yeast frequently—in summer as often as twice a week—or at least give the plants new food in the form of sugar or water or both, and keep in a cool place. Even a change of the vessel or addition of water gives air and aparently revives the yeast.

She speaks on the deterioration of yeast as follows:

The quantity of rbead produced so as to depend to a large extent upon the activity, and consequently upon the age of the yeast cells, those being neither new nor old giving best results.

"For maintenance of healthy, active growth of yeast, there must be frequent change of the medium of growth; this is probably due to the fact that if allowed to remain unchanged too great a concentration of by-products is formed. Simmons in 'Book of Bread' says: 'Yeast cannot ferment healthily when surhounded by excess alcohol; to keep in active state yeast must be brewed twice a week; do not use sponge after the fourth of fifth day in any case'; also, 'Yeast in sugar water reaches a stage where it will not continue to act until the water is changed.' Lindet ('Role of Yeast Making') says in substance, the process of refreshing yeast, as carried on by the baker, by the addition of flour and water to a portion of the dough, is less for the purpose of supplying the yeast new food than for helping it to overcome bacterial or acid fermenation, and for diluting a toxic substance which Heyduck showed was formed at the expense of the poteins of the flour. Many other investigators speak of this toxicity of flours towards yeasts. In addition to this necessity for change because of harmful by-products,there is also a necessity for oxygen, and yeast action is accelerated merely by change from one vessel to another, air being introduced."

A Marvelous Escape.

"My little boy had a marvelous escape," writes P. F. Bastims of Prince Albert, Cape of Good Hope. "It occurred in the middle of the night. He got a very severe attack of croup. As luck would have it, I had a large bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. After following the directions for an hour and twenty minutes he was through all danger."Sold by all dealers. "Years of Experience Have Proven to Me That the MAJESTIC Range IS the Best

"Strange, that for years, I couldn't see that trying to get good work from an old, wornout range, merely to save the price of a new one, was not true economy. My Great Majestic has more than earned its cost in the saving of fuel alone, because the open seams and joints in my old, worn-out range where the bolts were loose and the putty had crumbled away, made me burn twice as much fuel as necessary.

"Talk about luck in baking—"luck" is nothing but good oven and my Majestic oven is simply perfect. I can depend on it absolutely every day. I believe father and the children are happier and I know we have better meals at less expense with our Majestic."

MORTUARY

Jackson.

Mrs. Lucy Jackson, well and favorably known to many as "Aunt" Lucy, one of the most respected among the colored citizens of this city, was summoned to the better land at 11:30 o'clock Thursday night as was stated in the Journal Friday.

Mrs. Jackson had lived over 90 years, though her exact age was not known. She was born a slave in the state of Virginia and during the years of the civil war was brought to Jacksonville by a Capt. Sinclair. For a number of years she was employed about the office of Dr. David Prince and later in the office of Dr. W. H. H. King. In 1876 she was given employment by Dr. T. J. Pitner and remained in this service until about two years since, when, owing to the infirmities of advanced age she was obliged to relinquish her duties.

For the past two years she has made her home with the family of Edward Ramey on South West street where she was preserved from want through a pension kindly furnished by her former employer, Dr. T. J. Pitner, who speaks in high terms of "Aunt Lucy" as being a faithful and conscientious woman and always dependable. She was a consistent member of the A. M. E. church and had many friends among the white people as well as among the people of her own race and all who knew her have only kindly words for this faithful old mother in Israel.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Bethel A. M. E. church and will be conducted by Rev. George T. Shaw, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. John W. Kirk, who was for many years a friend of the deceased.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young—is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle.

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Co., Columbus, Ohio. (Adv.)

PERRY SISTERS ARE MARRIED IN GALESBURG

Four Young People Kept Their Marriage a Secret Over a Month—Brides Formerly Resided in Jacksonville.

Friends in the city have received word of the marriage of Miss Ethel Perry to Glenn E. Burgland and Miss Betty Perry to Otto Seastedt, all of Galesburg which took place some weeks ago. Both young ladies are former residents of Jacksonville and at one time were employed in the Illinois Telephone office of this city. The story of their marriage occurs in a recent issue of the Daily Republican-Register of Galesburg and is as follows:

"After keeping the news of their marriage a secret for over a month, Miss Ethel Perry and Glenn E. Burgland, both prominent and popular young people of the city, "sprung it" this morning. Along with their announcement comes the news of the wedding of Miss Betty Perry, sister of Mrs. Burgland, and Otto Seastedt, also of this city. The former named was united in marriage in Ft. Madison, Ia., on August 27, by the Rev. Mr. Sneath, pastor of the Baptist church at that place. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Perry Jr., of Jacksonville, the former being a brother of the bride. Almost immediately after the ceremony they returned to Galesburg and their friends were not informed until today.

Mr. Seastedt and Miss Betty Perry kept the news of their marriage a secret even longer than the other couple. They were united in the bonds of wedlock in Burlington, Ia., on August 20,, by the Rev. Mr. Barrett, pastor of the Baptist church at that place. The attendants at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Burgland, then Mr. Burgland and Miss Perry. Mr. and Mrs. Seastedt returned to Galesburg, after the service and refused to tell friends of their step, until it quietly leaked out today.

Well Known People.

Both couples are well and favorably known in this city. The brides are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Perry Sr., of 378 North Broad street, and have made their home in this city for the past three years, coming here from Jacksonville, Ill. They received their education in the schools at that place and are prominent in society circles in this city. For some time past they have held positions with the Central Union Telephone company.

Mr. Burgland is a young man of sterling worth and is the son of Eric M. Burgland of the meat firm of Burgland & Burgland. He received his education in the public schools and is a graduate of the Galesburg high school and Brown's Business college.

At present he holds a good position in the car department offices of the Burlington in this city.

Mr. Seastedt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Seastedt of 1009 East Losey street and has always made this city his home. He is a young man of excellent qualities and has a good position in the city.

You can't afford to miss it, that address Sunday afternoon.

ILLINOIS LOSES TO LINCOLN

Initial Football Game Between Colleges Played In Fearful Rain and Mud.

Illinois college lost the opening football game of the season yesterday to Lincoln college by a score of 7 to 0. The game was payed in a fearful rain and mud and did not given the elevens a fair chance to show their relative strength.

Bucheit Making Good.

Bucheit, a member of last year's football team on the hill, is now playing with Lake Forest. Walter Eckersall in a recent article says of Bucheit: "The quarterback position is well taken care of by Bucheit, a player who possesses all the natural qualifications for the position. In addition to the many duties of quarterback play, this warrior is a kicker of no mean ability. He can kick field goals from placement from almost any angle, with his sureness in catching punts and ability to run them back makes him one of the most valuable men on the team." It might be said in passing that Bucheit owes much of his ability to the splendid coaching he received from Coach Harmon while a student in Illinois. Berry, a former I. C. player, is also on the Lake Forest team, playing a tackle position.

Second Team in Carrollton.

The second team of Illinois college will go to Carrollton today where they will mix with the high school of that place. Little is known of the strength of the Carrollton team, aside from the beating they got at the hands of the Alton High school. The second team is good and ought to bring home a victory.

Beardstown a Winner.

One of the teams that the local high school will go up against this season is the Beardstown High school. This bunch of athletes seem to be going good. They defeated Rushville in the opening game by a score of 52 to 0 and won over Macomb last Saturday by a score of 21 to 0. Knight, whose fast work was noted in the W. I. H. S. L. meet here last May, is one of their star players. In the game with Macomb he made three touchdowns and kicked the three goals.

Saving Steps

The greatest boon that has been given to the housekeeper of today is the modern kitchen cabinet. And among kitchen cabinets, "Sellers" Kitcheneed stands head and shoulder above the rest.

It cuts the drudgery of kitchen work almost squarely in two. It brings everything necessary in cooking, together, all ready for use. It allows the housewife to spend hours of her time, that would otherwise be spent in "chasing after" things, in leisure or at some more pleasant occupation.

Because everything is right at hand, within easy reach, it enables you to do a large part of your work seated at the cabinet, entirely doing away with long hours of wearisome standing and walking about.

"Sellers" Kitcheneed contains dozens of conveniences that you cannot fully appreciate until you have used one. It contains more distinctive, sanitary and economical features than any other cabinet made. There is a reason for this. For almost a quarter of a century the "Sellers" Company has made nothing but kitchen furniture, always studying and experimenting in their effort to in some way improve their product. As a result, Kitchenneed offers you splendid advantages that no other kitchen cabinet can, and at prices that other concerns could not afford. Don't you think that you would appreciate these things—excellent appliances that not only save hundreds and hundreds of footsteps every day, but make your work lighter and keep things better as well? We know you would.
